About us

In a nutshell the HackTrain is a movement that aims to drive forward innovation in the railway industry through running meetups, hackathons and an accelerator programme.

We are building a platform that attracts Silicon Valley like-minded individuals that are interested in solving some of the biggest problems the rail industry faces.

What we can offer

- Access to over 10,000 developers and innovators across the UK and Europe
- An process for innovation that is cheaper and faster than current industry models
- Neutral environment for TOCs and suppliers to work together building and trialling innovative technologies

What or who we are seeking

- Other innovation specialists that have experience working with TOCs
- Organisations that are interested in driving innovation across the entire industry through unique processes that have never been used within the rail previously.

What's your innovation/idea

- HackTrain Hackathon: 48-hour event bringing together top innovators from all around the UK challenging them to solve some of the rail industry's biggest problems
- HackTrain Accelerator: 3-month programme that allows the rail industry to benefit from innovation without having to invest millions into it.

What's the market opportunity you are addressing

- Innovating outdated technology and procurement processes that haunt the rail industry
