

Nano4Life 6th Annual Conference & Exhibition

Converging Nanotechnology with the Life Science Industry

5th March 2014, Royal Academy of Engineering, London

Now in its sixth year, the Nano4Life Conference and Exhibition is a forum providing the latest updates on the developments that nanotechnology is delivering within the healthcare industries, and identifies any gaps in the supply chain necessary for commercial and clinical success.

Nano4Life 2014 will explore the convergence of nanotechnology and life sciences, providing perspectives from clinicians, industrialists and leading researchers, who work with, develop and endorse nanotechnologies so to fulfil and promote the benefits that can, and are, being realised from the implementation of this novel and exciting science in the healthcare sector.
